

eduroam Acceptable Use Policy

This Acceptable Use Policy sets forth legally binding terms that govern the eduroam services. This Acceptable Use Policy is incorporated by reference into the Connector Agreement or Evaluation Terms of Use with Internet2, as applicable. The Connector Agreement or Evaluation Terms of Use take precedence over any conflicting provisions in this Acceptable Use Policy (silence, however, shall not be deemed a conflict). All capitalized terms in this Acceptable Use Policy shall have the meaning set forth in the applicable Connector Agreement. No person or party may use the eduroam services without agreeing to this Acceptable Use Policy.

Use of the Service

The eduroam services may only be used by (1) a Connector (including its Users) pursuant to the applicable Connector Agreement or by (2) persons that have executed an Evaluation Terms of Use with Internet2 to use the eduroam services pursuant to the terms of that Evaluation Terms of Use. By using the eduroam services, you indicate that any information you provide to us is true, accurate, current, and complete. Further, all Connectors, Users and trial users agree not to use the eduroam services in unpermitted manners such as, but not limited to, the following:

- Using the eduroam services to encourage any illegal, abusive or other activities that interfere with the business or activities of Internet2 or any other party.
- Attempting to bypass or break any security mechanism on any of the eduroam services or using the eduroam services in any other manner that poses a security or service risk to Internet2 or any of its users.
- Testing, decompiling, or reverse-engineering the eduroam services or any equipment or services related to the eduroam services for any reason.
- Using the eduroam services in any manner that may subject Internet2 or any third party to liability, damages or danger.
- Launching or facilitating, whether intentionally or unintentionally, a denial of service attack on any of the eduroam services or any other conduct that adversely impacts the availability, reliability or stability of the eduroam services.
- Transmitting any material that contains viruses, trojan horses, worms or any other malicious, harmful, or deleterious programs.
- Using the eduroam services in any manner that violates any applicable industry standards, third party policies or requirements that Internet2 may communicate to its Connectors.
- Engaging in any unsolicited advertising, marketing or other activities.

- Using eduroam services to harvest or otherwise collect information about others, including email addresses or phone numbers.
- Using eduroam services to engage in or in connection with fraudulent activity.
- Violating or facilitating the violation of any local, state, federal, or foreign law or regulation, including laws and regulations regarding the transmission of data or software.
- Taking any action to participate in, encourage or promote any activity prohibited under this Acceptable Use Policy, the Connector Agreement, the Connector Trial Agreement, or any other agreement to which you are bound in connection with use of the eduroam services.
- Transmitting any material that infringes the intellectual property rights or other rights of third parties.
- Removing, obscuring or altering any notice of copyright, trademark or other proprietary right appearing in or on any component of the eduroam services.
- Transmitting any material that is libelous, defamatory, discriminatory or otherwise malicious or harmful to any person or entity.
- Creating a false identity or forged email address or header, or phone number, or otherwise attempting to mislead others as to the identity of the sender or the origin of a message or phone call.
- Using the eduroam services, or any component of the eduroam services, in any manner not authorized by Internet2.
- Failing to comply with the eduroam Compliance Statement and any other terms that the GeCC deems appropriate per its governance principles.

Compliance

Violation of this Acceptable Use Policy may result in a restriction or revocation of Connector's, Users' and trial users' rights with respect to the usage of the eduroam services, termination, or other remedies available in accordance with applicable laws or as may otherwise be available to Internet2 under the applicable Connector Agreement or Evaluation Terms of Use.
